

Boost employee engagement with Care.com® EventCareSM

You spend plenty of time and resources to plan outings, meetings and fun events, but participation can suffer if employees can't find child care. With Care.com EventCare, we bring the care to you—when and where you need it, be it busy work seasons or corporate events.

By removing a time-consuming, stress-inducing to-do, EventCare increases employee participation at events and boosts loyalty and productivity at work when it's needed most. Whether it's a holiday party at a fancy venue or a crunch-time Saturday morning at the office, our team of professionally trained caregivers—armed with engaging toys and fun games—is there for you.

How can EventCare impact your bottom line?

Make busy seasons easier.

During busy times such as tax season or faculty meetings, you need focused employees, and offering EventCare takes one huge obstacle out of the way. EventCare keeps the kids busy and happy on-site so your employees can concentrate on work without worrying about their families.

Happy employees stay around.

On-site services like EventCare greatly reduce employee stress, and happy employees are more likely to stay. Better retention means your company spends less time recruiting and training and more time growing a great company.

Why will employees love EventCare?

Corporate events are covered.

Make your corporate function a family event that gives adults time to socialize while their children are safe, nearby and having fun.

Ease school holiday tension.

Kids might get President's Day and every other Friday afternoon off, but your office doesn't. Offering EventCare on school holidays gives employees much-needed back-up care while reducing absenteeism and boosting productivity.

Bring all employees in on the fun.

EventCare brings caregivers to you, giving all employees the opportunity to join in and providing parents with peace of mind knowing their kids are being cared for nearby.

“ We have used EventCare for the past 3 years for both weekends and school holidays. They have been extremely professional, accommodating and flexible in meeting our needs and they are well received by the members of our staff that use their program. Having a program like EventCare gives working parents one less thing to worry about when it comes to finding child care during the tax busy season. ”
